Martyrdom of Guru Tegh Bahdur: Nov. 24

In November 1675, Guru Tegh Bahadur—the ninth Sikh Guru—stood up with courage and compassion to defend the right of all people to practice their own faith freely. At a time when many communities faced pressure to give up their beliefs, he became a symbol of hope, dignity, and unwavering moral strength.

His steadfast commitment to protecting freedom of conscience is honored today at Gurudwara Sis Ganj Sahib and Gurudwara Rakab Ganj Sahib in Delhi.

Guru Tegh Bahadur's legacy continues to inspire people around the world to uphold justice, human rights, and respect for every individual's beliefs.
